

Ken the Elf

Snow fell. The trees were white. "It is time to make gifts for the kids on my list," said Ken the elf.

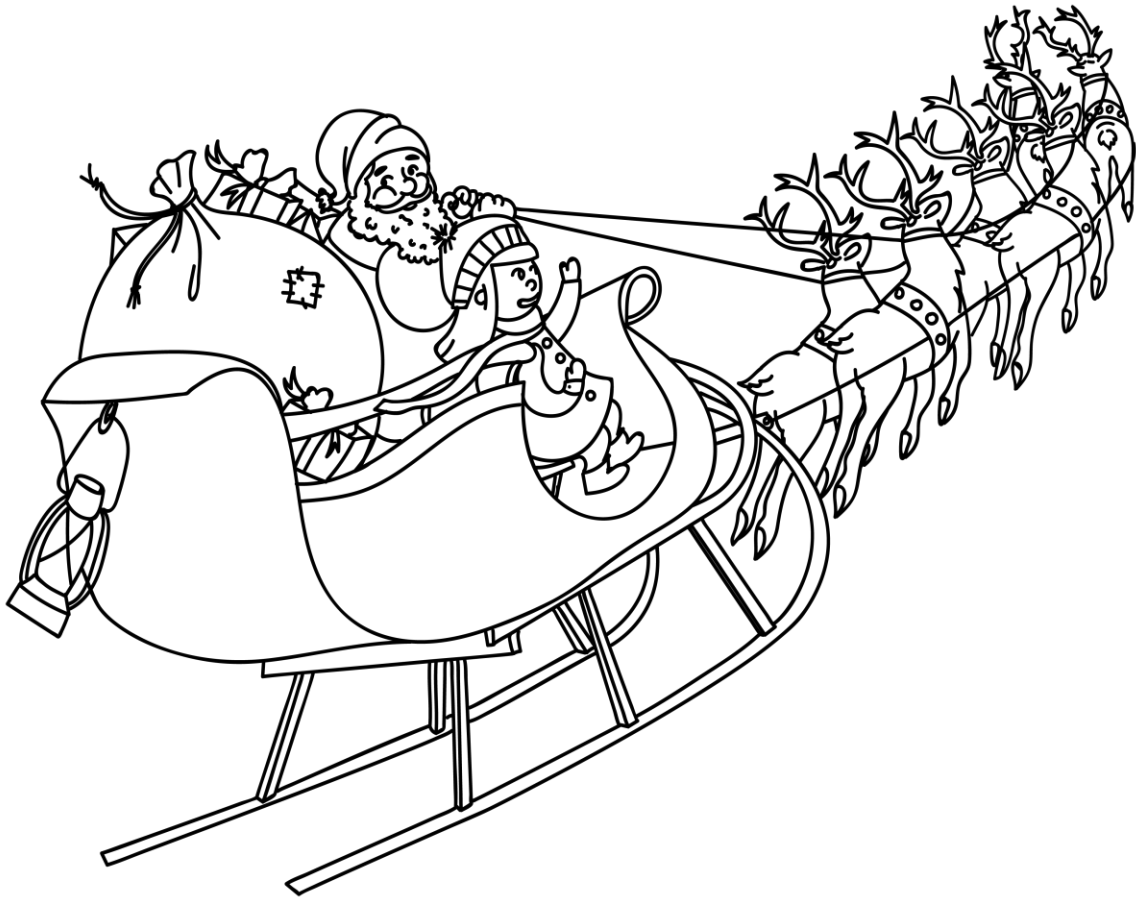

"This year, I will make gifts for Jack, Glen and Pam." Ken went to his shop.

He made a red truck for Jack.

Then, he made a green hat for Glen.

But Ken could not think of a gift for Pam. "Oh dear!" said the elf.

The elf ran to Santa. "I did not make a gift for Pam," said the elf. "What shall I make? A jump rope? Beads? Sweet treats?"

Santa said, "Ho, ho, ho... Pam will take a ride in my red sleigh. We will ride down her street." "That is the best gift yet," said the elf. The End.
